

From the glacier many of us join together to form small streams.

Many mountain streams join together to form a river.

Sometimes rivers or streams flow down as waterfalls.

As a river, I continue my journey across forests, villages and cities. Farmers use me for farming and people use me for drinking, cooking and for other needs. I finally reach the sea.

This is what I do with the water left in my water bottle.
