Mom smiles and says, "Why, you are just big enough to go to school."

"And you are just small enough for me to carry you on my shoulders," says dad.

"You are just big enough to take me for my morning walks,"says grandpa.

"And you are just small enough for me to tell stories to," says grandma.

"You are always the perfect size for our hug," all say and give him a warm, wonderful hug.

Note to the teacher: Focus on the describing words big and small. Encourage children to practise the words in context.
