

Mud went back to the river bank. But, Brass went on.

Soon, the river was deep, and Brass was not able to swim.

"Help! Help!" said Brass.

Mud used a stick from the river bank to help.

After that, Mud and Brass do not play in the river.

They only play by the river.

Note to the teacher: This is a supplementary story. Encourage the children to read the story on their own.