

An inscription in Tamil belongs to 13th century AD(CE) was found in Bagang, a city in Myanmar. It says Kulasekara Nambi, a merchant from Chera country donated gifts to Thirumal temple in Myanmar.

In 1850, people from Tamil Nadu moved here and worked in the agricultural fields. The fights between Indians and Burmese led to riots in the country. This forced a large number of Tamils to leave Myanmar.

There are many temples in Myanmar for Hindu Gods like Mariamman, Murugan and Thirumal.

Ananda temple is famous in Myanmar. This temple's tower is made in Dravidian style. The upper part of the tower being made in North Indian style of architecture.
